PEP MEETING TONIGHT TO BE SPIRITED ONE

All Local Football Fans Expected at Auditorium at 7 p. m. for Half Hour to Practice Cheers, Hear Short Talks

MIDDLESBORO PEOPLE URGED TO BUY GAME TICKETS HERE

Sufficient pep to make the pep meeting tonight a real one is being evidenced throughout the city tonight and it seems certain that local football fans will be at the meeting tonight in a body with spirit enough to convince any one who may have some lingering doubts, that Middlesboro is going to walk away with the game Thursday. The meeting is at 7 o'clock, prompt, at the Central school auditorium.

It will not last more than half an hour at the outside and the speeches will be limited to three minutes so as to give the major portion of the time to cheering and practicing songs and yells. Harry Smith will be the cheer leader and he will be on hand tonight with a parcel of new stunts and yells Miss Lucile Short will lead the songs for the game and she, too, will be out tonight. T. R. Hill, Supt. J. W. Bradner and Coach J. T. Kilpatrick will speak, and possibly several of the football players will say a few words.

A committee on transportation will be appointed tonight to assure that all Middlesboro people will have a way to get to Pineville Thursday. As Superintendent Bradner announced last night, "We don't want anyone left in Middlesboro but a couple of cops to look after the property." A committee to look after the parade will also be named. This parade will form at fountain square at 12:30 p. m. Thursday and drive to Pineville in procession. At least one hundred decorated cars will be in it, it is expected, and two bands will be in it.

All Middlesboro people are asked to get tickets here to avoid the rush and confusion on the Pineville field after they get there Thursday. Automobile owners are reminded that no cars can be parked on the football field Thursday though they may be left on Virginia avenue or any place on the streets where it is convenient. Traffic officers will be in charge of the parking there. J. S. Phillips of Pineville called attention today to the fact that Middlesboro would not only be given the whole right hand side of the ball field for standing room but that part of the grandstand on the left hand side would be reserved for Middlesboro.

TEACHERS GUESTS OF KIWANIS CLUB

Interesting Impromptu Talks by Kiwanians and Teachers—Prizes Drawn by Novel Contests

The teachers of the Middlesboro public schools were guests last night at dinner at the Hotel Cumberland, of the members of the Kiwanis Club and their wives. The meeting was a very enjoyable one for both teachers and Kiwanians. A program of impromptu speeches, music by Watt's orchestra, and novel methods of drawing for prizes made up the evening's entertainment. A. P. Liebig, president of the club, was in charge.

T. R. Hill made the welcome address for the club and Foster Callahan responded for the elementary grades and Mrs. Ray Moss for the high school. Supt. J. W. Bradner then spoke a few words in praise of the faculty which he said was the best one with which he had ever worked. Several Kiwanians were then called on to tell whether they thought Middlesboro could beat Pineville Thursday, and their answers were worded in no uncertain terms. As last on this list of short talks, Superintendent Bradner arose and explained in detail the matter of Pineville and Middlesboro football players' eligibility as decided upon by the two schools. He also urged the Kiwanians, and every one, to be out to the pep meeting at the Central School auditorium at 7 o'clock tonight.

The ladies' prizes, all of which were awarded to teachers, were as follows: First, by cracker eating contest, to Miss Lillian Seay; second, by addition problem, to Miss Mabelle Nelson; third, drawn by Mrs. John T. Kilpatrick; fourth, egg contest, Miss Lillian Seay; fifth, crap shooting contest, Miss Wilhelmine Mary; sixth, to Miss Cornelia Avent.

Silent boosts were pencils given by Citizens Bank and Trust Co., Hershey chocolate bars, Jellico Grocery Co.; apples, Lovett Fruit and Produce Co.

WINTER FINDS LESS POVERTY HERE THAN USUAL

The approach of winter does not find many extreme cases of pauperism in the city, according to Capt. P. J. Steinhour, who keeps in touch with the situation along this line. There are many cases of need, of course, but only a few extreme cases. A woman sick with three children is a case that has demanded his attention recently.

Public mendicancy has considerably decreased recently. There are usually a large number of people who drift in here from places and attempt to beg funds from the public for various alleged purposes. These are being eliminated as the public is beginning to demand investigations before they give in such cases.

SALVATION ARMY CLOSES REVIVAL SUNDAY NIGHT

VISITOR HERE SAYS DR. MATTHEWS IS LEADING CHARACTER IN "THE SKY PILOT".

The leading character in Ralph Connor's popular novel, "The Sky Pilot," was Dr. R. O. Matthews, president of the Lincoln Memorial University. This information, long known to Dr. Matthews intimate friends in the north, was made public here yesterday by Harry E. Evans, of Des Moines, Ia., editor of the Yeoman's Shield, published at Des Moines.

Nearly twenty years ago, Dr. Matthews invaded the great northwest, carrying the gospel into the frontier. Saloons and dance halls, dens of vice and wickedness offered opposition to the "Sky Pilot" whose purpose was to establish a church in the sinful Canadian town. As is chronicled in the book, the young minister actually came to blows with certain enemies of his cause and conquered in sheer physical strength.

The unusual strength of the fictional work lies in the fact that the incidents, even to many of the details, are, in the main true, Dr. Matthews, the real man, actually accomplished what Dr. Connor attributes to the hero of his most popular novel that of ultimately winning his point in the sinful town by sowing the seeds of Christianity and establishing a church.

The author learned of how Dr. Matthews, by working a year or two in the frontier settlement, had made religion popular and cleverly wove the actual incidents into his book, concealing, of course, the identity of the real life characters.

He said Federal legislation then should and could be passed, regulating distributing and transportation of coal.

THREE BLOCKS EAST CUMBERLAND AVENUE OPENED

Three blocks of East Cumberland avenue, from Tenth to Thirteenth streets, are now open to traffic. The newly completed asphalt makes an ideal street. The parks in the center will later be leveled and beautified.

SIX MORE CASES KING TUT JEWELS

Now Displayed in Museum of Thirteen Rare and Beautiful Cases Cairo

By Associated Press.

LUXOR, Egypt, Nov. 27. Six more show cases containing rare and beautiful treasures from the tomb of Tutenkamen have just been added to the collection of seven cases already on display in the Cairo museum. Probably the finest piece in the collection of which almost every object is a masterpiece is Pharaoh's 3000 year old jewel box of solid ivory fashioned with ape with knobs, hinges and feet of solid gold inscribed in front with the king's name and on the back with the Lotus symbol of upper Egypt. Also interesting are the king's sandals of open work sheet gold which arose inlaid in the gold on granule, representing a process unknown today.

WOMAN'S CLUB DISCUSS MOVIES

C. O. Brown Addresses Women Yesterday—Interesting Program of Music and Talks

"Motion Pictures" was the subject of the Woman's Club program yesterday afternoon and several interesting talks and musical numbers were given with Mrs. John Surman in charge. A number of business matters were brought up. The feature of the afternoon was the Thanksgiving program by Miss Edith Young's first grade pupils.

Mrs. D. G. Hinks, president of the club, was in the chair and called for several reports. Mrs. Hugh Allen, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. R. L. Maddox reported $20 collected for the Red Cross in the membership drive and announced that Mrs. O. O. Stone and Mrs. Homer Hoe collected the largest number. Mrs. P. D. Hart, Jr., reported 31 new subscriptions to the Club Woman. Mrs. G. C. Woodson, for the philanthropy section, called the club's attention to a Christmas gift for Grace Nettleton Home children and made the suggestion, which was carried, that each member of the club make and fill a bag for a child at the Home. Mrs. R. L. Maddox was appointed chairman of the Kentucky Good Roads Association here.

Mrs. Hinks read a paper on "Motion Pictures," as opening the regular program. Next Prof. John Surman played "Humoresque" on the violin. Mrs. Chesney told of the "Direct Contribution of Music to Motion Pictures." Mrs. Henry Heaton gave "Meditation" as a violin solo. Mrs. P. M. Parsons read a paper on "Is Music Essential in Making Motion Pictures?"

C. O. Brown, manager of the Mantling and Brownie Theatres, then gave an interesting and instructive talk on the importance of visual education and the problems of a theatre manager. He said that he tried conscientiously to choose always the cleanest and best shows for his theatre and that he was willing to cooperate with the Woman's Club in bringing any kind of pictures here they recommended and in getting educational pictures for children if it could be done in a practicable way. He emphasized, however, the difference in tastes which makes it impossible to please every one. He told of the great expense of the larger pictures, announcing however, that "Robin Hood" would show here in December and "The Covered Wagon" in April.

Next Miss Mary Skeen, accompanied by Mrs. J. T. Alderson, as were the other musicians, sang "Mighty Lak A Rose." Then in the Thanksgiving program, little Hal Overton first told the story of Thanksgiving in a very lucid and creditable manner. Louise Hoe dressed as a Pilgrim girl then read an article on what motion pictures had done. Last came a chorus of Pilgrim girls in costume, Dorothy Smith, Emily Catherine Oaks, Virginia Brown, June Yarborough, and Elizabeth Hoskins, who were frightened away by a big chief, Kline Susong, in Indian costume.

BETTER PASSENGER SERVICE TO HARLAN

L. and N. Officials Offer Every Possible Plan to Make Things More Satisfactory

The following on the Harlan railway service proposition is quoted from the Harlan Plain American after a visit from R. H. Pusey, L. and N. general passenger agent:

Mr. Pusey assured us that he was working and every possible plan discussed to relieve conditions, and that every attention would be given Harlan until a satisfactory schedule could be arranged, and then lived up to, under normal conditions.

As suggested in The Plain American, and conceded by Mr. Pusey, the delay comes not in the schedule, but in the transfer of baggage, mail and express at Pineville from Train No. 21 out of Corbin, to Train 89, out of Middlesboro to Harlan. Ordinarily it takes an hour to make this transfer and carrying out our suggestion made some weeks ago, an effort will be made to have the baggage, mail and express made up in special cars at Corbin for the Harlan division, and all the time necessary will be the switching of the cars at Pineville from 21 to 89.

Only in one thing were we in error. The Middlesboro Kiwanis Club were not instrumental in having the schedule changed, by which 89 left Middlesboro at 6 o'clock instead of 5 o'clock. The change had actually been ordered before the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club took the matter under consideration.

We also discussed with Mr. Pusey the habit that has become prevalent to load passengers in the coaches, with no smoking accommodations, and he assured us that this would be remedied. He stated that permission had been given, to lock the front door of coaches of through passenger cars, in order to keep the local passengers from the through passengers. This of course facilitates the handling of the passengers by the conductor. But the rear door of such cars are to be left open. He also said that a reclining chair car had been attached to the regular parlor car coming into Harlan, equipped with smoking compartments, and other conveniences.

TENN. LEADS SOUTH AS WHOLESALER

Has 1849 Jobbing Establishments; Also Leader In Home Ownership.

That is the outstanding statement in the University of Tennessee News Letter recently issued and from which is taken that which will appear below. According to tables compiled ba Prof. C. E. Allred, of the department of rural economics and sociology, Tennessee ranks first among the states of the south, having, as his tables show, 200 more establishments of a wholesale character than Georgia, the next highest. Tennessee, with 1,849 wholesale establishments is followed in this order: Georgia, 1,636; North Carolina, 1,343; Florida, 1,294; Louisiana, 1,198; Alabama, 1,055; South Carolina, 803; Mississippi, 525. Tennessee also leads in the matter of capitalization. Of Tennessee's wholesale plants 50 are $1,000,000 concerns, 74 have at least $750,000 each invested; 95 are capitalized at above $500,000 capitalizations. The closest approach to these capitalization figures are made by Georgia and Louisiana, but not nearly equalled, the million-dollar figure for Georgia applying to 38 concerns and for Louisiana to 37.

Of interest also is the fact that Tennessee ranks at the top among the states of North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina and Georgia in point of home ownership, per cent of families owning their homes, as of the year 1920, the figures being: For Tennessee, 47.7; North Carolina, 47.4; Florida, 42.5; Alabama, 35.0; Mississippi, 34.0; Louisana, 33.7; South Carolina, 32.2, and Georgia, 30.9.

CANADA PEAK OIL COMPANY STARTS DRILLING NEXT WEEK

MORROW NAMED ON RAILROAD LAOBR BOARD

To Take Up Duties when Governor's Term Ends—Denies Report He Will Resign—Is Out of Running for Federal Judge

MCKENZIE MOSS IN LEAD FOR JUDGE EVAN'S SUCCESSOR

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 27.—The appointment of Governor Morrow to the Railroad Labor Board apparently removes him from consideration for appointment as Federal Judge for the western Kentucky district, it was said here today. This is the position political gossip had him a candidate for upon the retirement of Judge Walter Evans early next year. Political gossip said today the appointment leaves the following as possible aputntees: Judge McKenzie Moss of Bowling Green, now assistant secretary of treasury; Judge Charles H. Moorman, Louisville, of the Court of Appeals; and Mayor Huston Quin of Louisville. The Times today says Moss apparently has the strongest backing.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—An announcement last night said Morrow had been appointed by President Coolidge as a member of the Railroad Labor Board in fulfillment of an arrangement made by the late President Harding. He will succeed R. M. Barton. Morrow will take up his duties next month when his term expires as governor.

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Nov. 27.—Governor Edwin P. Morrow today characterized the reports that he would resign in order to provide opportunity for Lieutenant Governor Ballad to enjoy a brief term as governor as ridiculous.

UNION CHURCH SERVICE THURSDAY

Rev. W. K. McClure Will Preach Thanksgiving Sermon at Presbyterian Church, 10:30 a. m.

A union Thanksgiving service will be held in Middlesboro this year at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of the day in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. W. K. McClure, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, will preach the sermon for the occasion and appropriate music is being prepared by the choir of the Presbyterian Church.

The Christian Church, First M. E. Church, Presbyterian Church and M. E. Church, South, will join in this service. The First Baptist Church will have Thanksgiving service at the regular prayer meeting hour Wednesday evening.

This service will not interfere with the regular program for the day, with the football game or any thing else planned for the afternoon as it will be over by 11:30 o'clock. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of persons grateful enough for the blessings of the past year to give this hour in worshipful thanksgiving.

HUNG JURY RESULTES IN TRIAL OF R. W. FONDEN

A hung jury resulted in the trial of R. W. Fonden, charged with selling liquor, in the magistrate's court late yesterday afternoon. A witness testified that defendant sold a drink of whiskey for fifty cents at the Blue Goose restaurant on Nineteenth street Thursday afternoon.

Defendant claimed that he had told the man that he had "nothing stronger than coffee." This was partially corroborated by Hiram Thompson and Willie Ball who said they were in the restaurant at the time of the alleged transaction. The jury, composed of six business men of the city, were unable to agree upon a verdict and the case will be tried again.

A THOUGHT

Fathers, provoke not your children to anger lest they be discouraged—Col. 3:21

Correction does much, but encouragement does more. Encouragement after censure is as the sun after a shower.—Goethe

AS THE TWIG IS BENT

To the newspapers of the state must go the credit of creating much of the public sentiment in favor of clean athletics. During the present season when college and high school football teams have been contesting in almost every town in the state the press has advocated continually the spirit of fair play. The following editorial is taken from the Carlisle Mercury:

"Clean athletics in preparatory schools is equally as much to be desired as clean college athletics. 'As the twig is bent the tree inclines' is a truth that applies to the training of those who constitute the personnel of preparatory schools. Train a boy to play dirty football in high school and he will very likely play dirty football when he goes to college. Teach him that it is all right to play 'tricks' and you teach him to cheat. You inculcate the idea of 'win by fair means or foul.' The day of the 'tricky' professional and football player, who came to college to play football and made no pretense of keeping up his classes, is past. Inter-collegiate associations pass on the eligibility of men who constitute athletic teams in the colleges and universities. A certain class standing is demanded by the faculties. This is as it should be. It makes for clean played games and teaches good sportsmanship.

"High school games are not so important, perhaps, as college games, yet in our opinion, they should be just as strictly supervised by an interscholastic association. The result of a game between preparatory schools is relatively speaking, not of much moment. The teaching of good sportsmanship and fair play to young men of high school age is important."

WOMEN FOR JURY SERVICE

The rather surprising and some think disconcerting fact for the men is disclosed at the municipal court building every day, namely that women are preferred by the lawyers for the jury box.

Jury after jury is selected in which all the peremptory challenges are exercised and then the two strikes of each party drawing permitted and the municipal court jury of six are often four women and two men.—The Des Moines Tribune.

The condition may exist in the Des Moines courts but a woman juror in this county, particularly in Middlesboro is such a rare phenomenon that she really does not cause an issue. I do not know of how many that there have been selected and left the jury box. Many of them have been married or have had domestic duties to perform that could not be laid aside temporarily. But the article...

For some cases local attorneys prefer male jurors. For equity cases women challenged are excused from service. Can it be that the counsel for the defense thinks the side which usually challenges the women, think that the women will not render a just decision or do the thing that men will have more sympathy for a fellow man accused of crime.

Without saying that women have a keener intellect for unraveling the law and the facts of a case or that they allow their sympathies to override their better judgment we believe the juries of this country should be composed of as many as well as men.

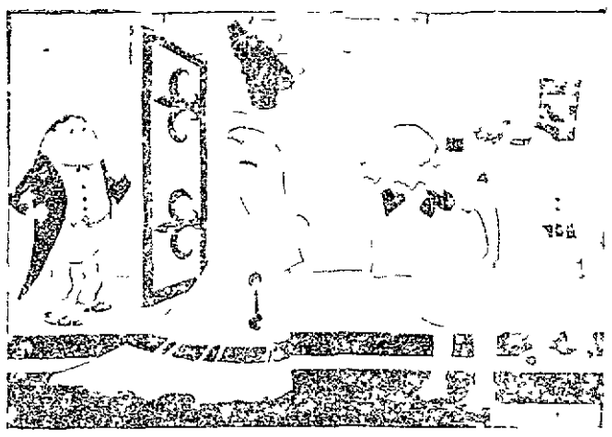
MRS. HEN MAKES A GOOD GUESS



"How do you do, children?" said the Riddle Lady kindly.

[illegible]

"How do you do, children?" said the Riddle Lady kindly. "How do you do, everybody? I'm late today because I was detained and the hen didn't come and we waited and waited. And finally when it did come it was so cold we couldn't get it in. But now there we are and I have the whole story.

"We hope you had a nice time," spoke up a tall gentleman in a yellow velvet suit and black satin spats.

"Splendid, thank you! But speaking of time reminds me of my daily. I'll begin it once I wrote it and then I recited it by heart. So she began:

A dilly a dolly a twelve o'clock scholar,
With face as round as the moon
You count and count from noon till night
And then from night till noon

You never rest the year around
To labor you must like
Yet though you work so faithful
You're always ill on strike

You mutter, mutter as you work
You're never dumb a minute
Yet when you stop your voice stops too,
We want all you begin it

"Sometimes you've two legs, sometimes

[illegible]

Time to
And sometime more to
You stand on metal
Or hang upon the wall

No matter where we make our home
(You hear me, I'm told)
You never use a comb at all
But run with both your hands

You tell folks when to go to church
Or when to eat a meal
Or boil an egg or fry a fish
For this we're for

My, my! That's what one
And one tall gentleman in the yellow suit, wagging his head till his ears flapped.

"A very hard one!" agreed all the Riddle Landers solemnly.

At that very minute a speckled hen began to tell the world that she had laid an egg. Cluck, cluck, cluck, cluck, cluck! She cackled loudly.

Nancy called out, "That's it! The hen guessed it! It's a clock in it!"

"That's right. It is," nodded the Riddle Lady. "Humpty Dumpty please give her a handful of corn for being so smart. Nancy and Nicky you may drive home with me and help make up tomorrow's riddle."

At that moment he let go of me. Ruth came in. I never was so glad to see anyone in all my life. She was bringing me the loveliest orchid negligee you ever saw and that fool Mrs. Smithson's attention to the moment.

I expect you all have great success. Ta and do Rich in your new venture. Of course all your friends will show their sympathy for you by making purchases at your shop.

I am neither looking for sympathy nor charity, Mr. Smithson said Ruth bluntly. 'I am going into a perfectly legitimate business and I hope that I shall make it pay. That's all.'

Very admirable of you. I am sure. (That woman seems to have a self-esteem that compares with a rhinoceros skin. Nothing can get under it.)

I knew Ruth wanted to talk to me a little more than you.

You seldom see a home neighbor forget to pull the shades down.

NOW SHE'S MEMBER

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge became a member of the Hadassa Memorial Association when she served on the latter one. Many prominent government officials of the association pledged to erect a suitable memorial to the late president's memory.

inc. privately but that woman stayed and stayed an hour last had the nerve to ask Ruth if the picture "Trumping His Heart" was being shown in New York.

Ruth stiffened and then deliberately lied. 'I think I saw it advertised but I was too busy to go and see it.'

'Oh Mr. Prescott told me that you had seen the picture.'

Ruth recovered herself quickly. 'Was that the picture in which Paula Perier played? I didn't remember the name of it when you spoke. Yes, I saw it.'

How did you like it, Mrs. Ellington?"

'Very much indeed.'

'I have been making a great sensation around here.'

'I expect so,' said Ruth. 'Miss Perier was one of the most beautiful girls in town you know. Pardon me, Mrs. Smithson, but wasn't she the young woman to whom your husband paid so much attention before you were married? Some one told me that she had turned him down and the next thing I knew your marriage was announced.'

Nothing of the sort, nothing of the sort. Of course Mr. Smithson thought as did all the men in town, that she was a very pretty girl. But as for paying her any attention, he only did what he could not to get out of the girls pestered him to death running after him.'

'Oh that was the way of it,' said Ruth innocently. 'Well I can hardly understand Mr. Smithson's attitude in the matter for it always seemed to me that Paula Perier was really much too good for him.—Again you will pardon me, Mrs. Smithson—'

'I'll do nothing of the kind, Mrs. Ellington and it seems to me that you are not in position with your husband leaving you for another woman to throw stones at what you consider my glass house.'

'I have had a very pleasant evening, Mrs. Prescott, but I will have to take my leave now as I cannot stand insults even by implication. Good evening.'

She flounced out.

Who Did She Love?
One lover was a noble aristocrat, young, most handsome; her rescuer and protector. Another was a giant leader of the People, pockmarked, yet fiery, fearless and eloquent. She was his rescuer and protector, having saved him from spies of the King. Each braved all for a kiss. The noble was banished, the leader unseated. Which did she love?

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

(Kansas City Times)

Not—
"How did he die?"
But—
"How did he live?"
Not—
"What did he gain?"
But—
"What did he give?"
These are the units
To measure the worth
Of a man, as a man,
Regardless of birth

Not—
"What was his station?"
But—
"Had he a heart?"
And—
"How did he play
His God given part?
Was he ever ready
With word of good cheer
To bring back a smile
To banish a tear?"

Not—
"What was his church?"
Nor—
"What was his creed?"
But—
"Had he befriended
Those really in need?"
Not—
"What did the sketch
In the newspaper say?"
But—
"How many were sorry
When he passed away?"

BY SISTER MARY

(Unless otherwise stated, each recipe is intended to be sufficient for four persons.)

While baking the Christmas fruit cake for yourself why not make enough to include in the Christmas box that must be sent to some member of the family away from home? Home made cake at the holiday season has a strong appeal to persons not at home

Brandy always was considered necessary in fruit cakes to make them keep and ripen Although the brandy had nothing to do with the 'keeping' it did aid in 'ripening' There is no substitute that will give the flavor to a fruit cake that the continued dampening with brandy imparted However strong coffee and grape juice used in fruit cake in place of milk will make a moist delicious cake that will keep indefinitely

Long slow baking insures good keeping

Fruit cake is made with or without eggs The cake made with eggs is of course richer than the one without Old fashioned pork cake requires neither butter nor eggs but keeps well and is moist and delicious The more fruit and nuts in the cake the better

Pork Cake

One pound fat salt pork 2 cups boiling water 2 cups brown sugar 1 cup molasses 1 tablespoon each of cloves and nutmeg 2 tablespoons cinnamon 1 pound raisins, 1 pound currants 1 1 pound citron 2 cups nut meats 4 tablespoons strong cold coffee 2 teaspoons baking powder 1 2 teaspoon soda 8 cups flour 1 tablespoon vanilla

Remove rind and any bits of lean meat from salt pork Chop very fine and pour over boiling water Mix well and let stand until lukewarm Stone raisins Clean and dry currants Shred citron Mix fruit with one cup flour Mix and sift remaining flour with cinnamon, powder and soda Add fruit and spices sugar and molasses to the pork mixture Mix well and add vanilla Mix thoroughly Be sure the flour is evenly mixed throughout the whole mixture Turn into a large pan lined with buttered paper and bake in a slow oven two and one half hours

This is a cheap delicious cake well worth baking More fruit and nuts can be added if wanted

The ingredients for a fruit cake should be weighed Eggs may mislead different brands of flour vary in weight per cup and brown sugar is variable But as comparatively few housekeepers indulge in kitchen scales this rule is changed from pounds to cups
